PLANTBED MANAGEMENT TIPS

A late spring has caused many tobacco plant beds to be slow in developing. Many growers usually begin transplanting by mid-May, J. A. Smith, Extension Agent, said; however, this will not be true for 1978.

In the above picture is Carter Martin looking over his bed which is one of the more advanced beds. It was seeded in February.

With skillful care plant beds could be covered with plastic to raise the temperature. Plastic covers must be removed when air temperature reaches 70°F, because under the plastic the temperature would be approaching 90°F. Unless skilled management is practiced the plants may be scalded and killed. Using this method a dependable person must be available to remove the plastic.

Cool, damp conditions are ideal Blue Mold conditions. There are four materials that may be used to prevent Blue Mold - Zineb, Ferbam, Maneb, or Polyram. Begin application when plants are the size of a dime. Treat beds twice a week until plants are transplanted.

In the coming weeks many people working around plants will largely determine the amount of mosaic that you'll have this year. No one handling plants should handle cigars, cigarettes, chewing tobacco or snuff while weeding, spraying, pulling or transplanting plants.

Mosaic is a virus that can be transferred from manufactured tobacco products to the plant bed and to the field. Chewers spitting in the plant bed can transmit the virus.

There's an old treatment that is still effective but few use to help control mosiac. It's milk - either whole, skim or the dry skim product. Here's how to use it. Spray the plant bed with milk - 5 gallons per 100 square yards 24 hours before pulling plants. If the dry product is used mix 5 pounds in 5 gallons of water. While pulling and transplanting have workers dip their hands in milk every 20 minutes.

Mosaic is on the increase. It costs every grower many dollars in reduced yield every year.

Heavy rains may have leached nitrogen from plant beds. It may be necessary to top dress with 3 to 6 pounds of 16% nitrate of soda. If nitrate of soda is not available subject to 1½ to 3 lbs. of ammonium nitrate per 100 square yards.

EMPLOYMENT COUNSELING SEMINAR CONDUCTED AT ACHS

On Tuesday, May 9, the Junior Class of Appomattox County High School participated in the second annual Employment Counseling Seminar. The purposes of the seminar were to provide an opportunity for students to interact with persons representing business and industry, to provide information on the local job market and occupational outlook, to provide an opportunity for students to see relationships between course work, work experience, academic grades, leisure time activities and occupational clusters, and to acquaint students with what an employer is looking for in an employee.

The program consisted of a class assembly followed by group discussions. Mrs. Lucy O. Spencer, Assistant Manager of the Virginia Employment Commission, spoke on the opportunities in the local job market, job trends, and occupational outlook during the assembly. Following her talk, the students divided into groups to meet with personnel managers of area businesses and industries. These resource persons spoke on the topic of "What Employers Look For is an Employee". Students were also able to ask questions during the group sessions. Seminar leaders were Miss Susan Bailey and Mr. Jim Dorety of Armstrong Industries, Mr. W. H. Puryear of Lynchburg Foundry, Mr. William Cooper of Virginia Fibre Corp., Mr. O. T. Snow of Limitorque Corp., and Mrs. Merle Alvis of Babcock and Wilcox.

This Employment Counseling Seminar was planned by the ACHS Guidance Department in cooperation with Mr. R. B. Carter, Vocational Director of Appomattox County Schools, and the faculty of Appomattox County High School. This program serves as a continuing means of presenting students with career information and helping prepare them for the world of work.
